Barriers: Redefine the aging image

In doing so consider:

- Stereotypes and labels
- Power of media
- Multiple generations
- Lack of understanding of aging
- Economic status altering image
- Myths of aging
- Us and them divided mentality

Proposed Solution(s):

1. Increase intergenerational opportunities
2. Educate public at large on aging – challenge myths and transcend labels
3. Create incentives for media to promote positive image of aging
4. Redefine retirement and transition through life

Priority Issue: Planning Along the Life Span

Barriers:

- Social attitudes
- Transportation
- Perceptions regarding aging
- Lack of time, hectic schedules and pace of life
- Weakening of community bonds

Caregiver Information & Support Barriers:

- Money
- Language – vocabulary
- Privacy laws
- Awareness of progress
- Isolation
- Identification of stress
- Guilt

Funding for Home-Based Care Barriers:

- Deteriorating existing infrastructure
- Limitations of categorical eligibility
- Lack of resources

Priority Issue: Social Engagement

Barriers:

- Intergenerational connections
- Isolation and access issues
- Transition to retirement and lifelong learning
- Redefining the aging image

Proposed Solution(s):

1. Recognize that restructuring social security solvency is a challenge, not a crisis.
2. Maximize options for change that need to be identified, carefully considered, and advance the best solutions
3. Encourage this Congress to pass the Elder Justice Act”

4. Begin financial education early in our schools, funded by private sector and tie financial knowledge to “national learning results”. Continue financial education through lifespan “adult education, workshops at senior centers, etc.
